Professional Background

Catherine is a highly accomplished Senior Occupational Therapist with over three decades of broad clinical and managerial experience, spanning a comprehensive range of complex injuries and conditions. After graduating, Catherine obtained two years' experience within acute rehabilitation settings followed by three years working in the Middle East with children and adults with neurological conditions. This included managing the treatment of clients following strokes, spinal cord injuries and brain injuries and those with severe physical disabilities. Catherine worked with children with neurological deficits and congenital abnormalities.

Following this, Catherine returned to the UK, working with adults and children across the areas of stroke and brain injury rehabilitation, spinal cord injury, complex orthopaedic injuries, long-term neurological injuries and pain management. She subsequently operated as a Therapy Services Manager, during which time she supported the commissioning of a neurological rehabilitation unit and facilitated the development of therapy and children's service and an outreach concept between hospitals within the HCA Hospital group. In 2003, Catherine took on the role of Head of Occupational Therapy. Catherine currently provides a consultancy service to a brain injury charity and practices clinically through private work and locum work to keep her clinical skills relevant.

Professional Background Continued

Throughout her career, Catherine has developed a wealth of expertise in the management of physical and cognitive impairments, as well as extensive experience in staff and service development. Catherine is passionate about the benefits of peer support for those who have experienced a life changing injury or condition.
