Professional Background

Julinie Mohamad Nasir brings to her role as a Paediatric Expert Witness at Harrison Associates an extensive background in physiotherapy, with a focus on paediatric neurodevelopmental conditions. Her 25-year career is distinguished by her specialisation in treating a wide range of disorders, including cerebral palsy, developmental delays, autistic spectrum disorder, traumatic brain injury, and genetic conditions. She has consistently worked with children from birth through to early adulthood, addressing complex needs with tailored therapeutic interventions that cater to both physical and developmental challenges.

At the core of Julinie's practice is her commitment to delivering expert witness services that are both thorough and impartial. Her evaluations and reports are informed by her deep clinical experience and meticulous adherence to Civil Procedure Rules. She balances her work across both claimant and defendant instructions, ensuring objectivity and fairness in all assessments. Julinie continually engages in professional development, ensuring her knowledge and approach reflect the latest best practices in paediatric care and rehabilitation.

Her contributions extend beyond direct client care, influencing broader educational and healthcare initiatives. She has developed training programs for therapy, education, and care staff, as well as for parents, to ensure consistency and informed care across different environments. Julinie's leadership was instrumental at the Chelsea & Westminster NHS Foundation Trust, where she spearheaded physiotherapy services in a special needs school. Notably, she contributed to the planning of a hydrotherapy pool at the school and provided aquatic therapy before moving on to work at the Bobath Centre. Although she left before the construction was completed, her early involvement was pivotal in shaping the therapeutic benefits of the project.

Julinie's professional ethos is characterised by a holistic, person-centred approach, aligning her medical expertise with the personal stories of the children and families she serves. Her commitment to her field is reflected in her active participation in professional bodies, including the Health & Care Professions Council and the Chartered Society of Physiotherapists, further underscoring her dedication to improving the quality of life for children with complex needs. Julinie is fully trained in the Civil Procedure Rules, including relevant revisions as they arise.
